Danger of Mail Order Buying

Some mail-order houses are reliable. They keep their promises; but the cost of doing a mail-order business is enormous, and mail-order prices are NOT A PENNY LOWER THAN OURS.

Besides, if anything goes wrong with an article you buy by mail, you are a long way from headquarters and may be greatly inconvenienced before you can get it fixed.

The chief danger of mail order buying is that it gets you in the habit of shopping through the catalog without investigating local prices. You are sure to lose by following that plan.

For your own interest, we request that you ask our prices and see our stock before you spend real money by mail. If we can't give you most for your money, we don't want you to spend it here.

Six Unusual Rugs

In the large shipment of Rugs which we contracted for for spring, are six patterns which we would like every one of our friends to see.

They are the newest creations of the American mills and are wonderful in their texture, quality and color.

Our spring display includes practically every kind of modern Rug in common sizes. Visit our show room as you would an exhibit. Look around—compare prices and patterns, and, especially, look for bargains.

See 100 Carpet-Size Rugs—count them—displayed upon our new adjustable arm rug rack—opens like a book.

The Time to Find Out

Now is the time to find out "what's what" in Suit and Coat style and Suit and Coat values. What is value? It is not the price you pay for the article, but rather the amount of good service received from same. Some things we buy for the pleasure they bring to us; others we buy for the real amount of style and service which we know we will receive. In buying ready-made garments, we find that nearly everyone looks to style first and makes service the secondary thought. And we know there is a reason for this, as every customer knows that we protect them as to the service of a garment. We guarantee that you will receive full value from every garment we sell you. Now is the time to make your garment choice, when the stock is full. Every day we are being congratulated on our large line of best values shown. Customers tell us they enjoy making their selection, because we give them such a large variety of the season's best models from which to make their choice. Nearly every express is bringing new values into the department.

New Ready-to-Wear Values

We have so many new values in our Ready-to-Wear department that we only have space to mention them.

We have just received a lot of Children's Coats in blues, that are a little different, and in extra good values.

Nearly every express is bringing new Coat values into the department. We received today some special new values in Ladies' full length Coats.

Never were we able to show so full a line of popular Coat values as we have at present. These are Coats where there are only one of a kind, each one a good model, and still a little different than the others. If you are not ready to buy and want to see the new styles, come in and try them on. Many people do not care for the new cut of Coat at first, but after they have seen them on, and get a little accustomed to them, the style appeals to them as the best they have seen for many seasons. You should see this line of popular Coats.

Headwear

For babies, children, misses and ladies as follows:

Babies' Silk Bonnets at 25c that have all the appearance of being worth 50c.

Babies' Silk and Muslin Bonnets that are equal to any that we have had in past seasons at 50c.

Fine Babies' Bonnets up to $1.25 each that are very fine and pretty.

Children's Hats in all the new styles. In these are the new Turkish Toweling Hats at 50c; both white and colors.

Misses' and Ladies' Outing Hats from 50c up to $2.50. A popular lot at 50c and 95c each.

Misses' and Young Ladies' Straw Hats that are all right. An early choice is very desirable as these kinds cannot be duplicated.

New Ideas in Wash Goods

We have today several new cloths that are a little better than old kinds, as follows:

Buster cloth for rompers, sailor suits and tailored skirts and suits. These are 31 inches wide and sell at 18c per yard.

Romper Gallateas; this is a little lighter weight than Pacific Gallateas and sells at 15c per yard, perfectly fast colors and a sure seller. Just what the trade has been asking for.

New Windsor Misses; these are quite different from earlier crepes. They have a more pebbled weave and are times better than early deliveries. The price is the same, 18c per yard.

Our new line of 25c Poplins have in them several colors that you won't see in other stores. This is the largest line of Poplins in the city.

If you saw last week our window of white wool goods you must appreciate that we have all kinds that you would be likely to find in the largest city store and we protect you as to price.

Do not overlook the very unusual New Idea Magazine subscription offer which we are now making. This is recognized as one of the best magazines on the market for $1.00. We are offering this magazine for the next few days for only 30 cents per year. Subscribe at once.

Next Year at Hardwick.

Crowded houses marked the services yesterday at Ayer hall in the morning and at the Methodist church in the afternoon. At nine o'clock a love feast was held at Ayer hall, led by the Rev. A. L. Cooper, D. D., and the Rev. Joseph Hamilton of Randolph. The hall was crowded long before Bishop Henderson preached. On the stage with him were the three district superintendents, the Rev. D. G. Guest, the pastor, Dr. Cooper and the choir, which, under the direction of E. J. Corliss, has rendered excellent music throughout the conference. The Baptist church was closed this morning to join in the service. Bishop Henderson's text was St. John III, third and fourth verses.

At the ordination service yesterday afternoon the bishop was assisted by the district superintendents, the P. A. Smith of Bradford and the Rev. William Shaw of Montpelier. The sermon, especially for those ordained, was from Acts VI, third verse. The following were ordained: To be elders, the Rev. Guy F. Crawford of Johnson and the Rev. George A. Smith of Evansville; deacons, the Rev. S. F. Cooley of Albany and the Rev. Rutherford H. Moore of North Hero.

Miss Marriot of China held a largely attended service for children at the Advent Christ church yesterday afternoon. The conference closed last evening, when Ayer hall was again filled. The Rev. C. T. Wilson of Topeka, Kans., gave a temperance address.

An invitation for the conference to hold its 70th annual session in Hardwick in 1914 was accepted.

PLANTING FORESTS IN VERMONT.

Many Land Owners Are Engaged In This Line This Spring.

The indications for an early spring are already stimulating an interest in foresting planting, and over fifty orders have been received by the Vermont state nursery for trees. The new law, which provides a fairer way of taxing young growing forests, will undoubtedly be a great factor in foresting the waste lands of the state. Vermont is the third state to pass such legislation, by means of which the growing timber is not taxed until it is cut. The annual tax is levied on the land alone to be assessed at not over $3 an acre, and there is a ten per cent. tax upon the gross stumpage value of the lumber when cut.

The most encouraging feature about the reforestation movement in Vermont is the fact that so many people who have planted in previous years are continuing to do so, indicating that their former efforts have been successful. It is estimated that fully 75 per cent. of all the trees planted during the past four years are now alive and well established; while in some stands over 90 per cent. are alive. Among the largest planted of past years is Dr. William S. Stevens, who has now planted 115,000 trees on his farm in Enosburg, and is to plant 50,000 more this spring.

Another enthusiastic planter is Miss Woodbury, who, during the past three years has set 25,000 trees in Weatherfield, and is to plant 10,000 white pines this season. T. D. Hobart of Texas, who spends his vacations on his birthplace in Berlin, has planted there 27,000 white pines and 5,000 Norway spruce. This year he is planting 3,000 of each.

That so many of the large lumber concerns are interested is particularly encouraging. The Newton & Thompson Manufacturing company of Brandon has planted, during past years, over 20,000 pines and this season is to plant as many more. The Bridgewater Woolen company, which planted 16,000 trees in 1912, reported in the fall that 95 per cent. were alive and ordered 15,000 for 1913. The Putnam Lumber company of Middlesex has set out 12,000 trees and are to continue by planting 10,000 this spring. Many other former planters are demonstrating their satisfaction in the work by planting more land.

Among the most interesting undertakings in this line, thus far, is that of the city of Montpelier, in reforesting its watersheds in Berlin. This work, which was begun under Mayor Ballard, is being developed under Mayor Estee. Last year 10,000 white pine and 2,000 Norway spruce were planted. This season the following kinds will be used: 18,000 white pines, 10,000 Norway spruce, and 8,000 Scotch pine.

The most interesting new development in forest planting is in Arlington, where Mrs. Elsie Canfield is starting for her little granddaughter, a large forest to be a memorial to the late Dr. Canfield. Twenty-five thousand white pines are to be planted this year as a beginning, and in succeeding years more trees will be planted until about 200 acres of the old Canfield farm is reforested. The little girl, who is now only three years old, will have, in this forest, a very valuable property as the result of this far sighted policy on the part of her parents and grandmother.

Among others who are beginning reforestation this year may be mentioned: The Jones Lumber company of Warren; Edward H. Williams of Woodstock; Hon. Charles A. Plimley of Northfield; Arthur Palmer of Thetford; and Master Harold E. Sawyer, a nine-year-old boy in Plymouth.

The state nursery has been steadily enlarged, and it is believed that it will be able to meet all orders this season, for the first time.
